Aramid Belted Radial Full 2-yr. warranty with full replacement regardless of mileage.

Plus added warranties against road hazards and tread wear up to 44 months.

Our new radial tire is so rugged, we've given it our first full two year warranty. It's belted with an amazing new fiber called Aramid that pound for pound is actually stronger than steel. Other outstanding features: 2 polyester radial plies, special sidewall stabilizers, 7 rib tread design and whitewalls. The new JCPenney Aramid Belted Radial. It could make steel belted radials obsolete.

JCPenney ARAMID BELTED RADIAL WARRANTY FULL 2 YEAR WARRANTY for your private car.

If this tire becomes unserviceable, return it to us. We will replace it free, regardless of mileage.

Limited Warranty on Road Hazards and Defects in Material and Workmanship Extending Between 24 Months of Use and Last 2/32 Inch of Tread Remaining.

If our Aramid Belted Radial tire fails due to road hazard or defects in material or workmanship after 24 months of use, we will, at our option repair it or replace the tire charging only the portion of the current selling price (plus Federal Excise Tax) where applicable that represents tread used. This warranty is no longer effective when the tread indicators appear in the tire showing that only 2/32" of tread remains. Just return the tire to us. This warranty applies only to tires used on private cars.

Limited Warranty on Tread Wear Extending Between 24 Months of Use and Last 2/32 Inch of Tread Remaining.

If the Aramid Belted Radials wear down to the tread indicators that appear when only 2/32" of tread remains after 24 months of use and before 44 months of use, we will make an adjustment as shown in the chart below. Wear out caused by misalignment is excluded. In return for the tire, we will provide a new tire, charging the then-current selling price, less the following allowance (plus Federal Excise Tax where applicable).

Warranty Period 44 months

Allowance 30%

This warranty applies only to tires used on private cars.

No trade-in required.

all steaks are not created equal.

Serving great steaks is no accident. And even if you've been eating at a lot of fine steakhouses, you may be in for a pleasant surprise at the Cask 'n Cleaver.

From our "blind taste test," to hand-picking our meats, to serving only Corn Belt beef, to careful aging, to cutting your steak to order, to searing and sealing in natural juices and flavor, to really warm service, no one does more to serve you a better steak and great things to go with it than the Cask 'n Cleaver.

Second to None at Second

During the 15 years of the Angels' existence, second base has been without a doubt the club's strongest position.

Billy Moran started the trend in 1961 and held the job until the arrival of Bobby Knoop in 1964. Knoop was traded in 1969 for his successor, Sandy Alomar, who manned the fort until 1974 when Denny Doyle took over. Then came Jerry Remy.

The rabbit-like Remy made the jump from Double A ball last year to oust Doyle and compile the best rookie season of any of his predecessors. Now he's looking ahead to playing the best season ever and contributing to an Angels pennant.

"I'd rather play on a winning club than get any awards," said Jerry, who captured them in 1975 as a member of the Topps Chewing Gum Major League All-Rookie team. "Being on a winning club means I must be making a contribution. I'm not a super star. I just want to do important things that will help us win games. Last year I didn't really know what to expect. Now I have a measuring stick."

Manager Dick Williams, a stickler for execution of the finer points of this perplexing yet amazingly simple game, has taken notice.

"He's a veteran after only one year," said the skipper. "He's our 'pepper pot' on the infield and our stabilizer on the right side."

It's the little things that Remy does so well which make him a big man in the clubhouse. He can bunt, execute the double play, cover acres of land around second, take the extra base and advance the runner as well as anyone in the league.

Statistically, the best second baseman the Angels have had was Moran in 1962. On his way to starting both All-Star games that season he batted .282 with 17 home runs and 74 runs batted in. He fielded at a .986 clip by making only 13 errors.

With the exception of Moran's superior power potential, Remy could eclipse those figures.

"He's going to get even better," said Williams. "He's extremely dedicated . . . a heads-up type of ballplayer. The more he plays, the more knowledge he will gain of both the opposing pitchers and hitters. And he will play when he's hurt. He's got great desire."

Remy, whose name appears on the 1976 All-Star ballot, does admit to one personal goal. He'd like to be known as the "Pete Rose of the American League."

"Everytime I go out to play I give it everything I've got," said Jerry early this season. "I'll never dog it. I'm a 'Punch and Judy' type hitter like Rose so I can't dog it. Pete always has been my idol, more or less."

Rose stands 5-foot-11 and weighs 200 pounds. Even with half the Anaheim Stadium infield typically smeared on his uniform, Remy pales in comparison at 165 pounds spread over a 5-foot-9 frame. But in terms of actual hustle there is little difference. Rose gets everyone's vote because he has had a dozen more seasons in which to demonstrate it.

At age 23, Remy has the opportunity to build a similar reputation.

"All I can do is give it my best. Whatever happens, will. I know that someday I'll lose my job to a kid, just as Doyle did to me. I just hope I take it as well as Denny did."

"I was happy for everything Denny did with Boston, including getting into the World Series. I was doing my job here and didn't feel any pressure because of what he was doing there. I was happy when he was traded because it took some pressure off. I always had it in the back of my mind that if I had a couple of bad games they might have switched back to him."

That situation never arose.

The Homerun Express. It's there to get you here.

Here's the pitch. OCTD's new Homerun Express can get you to the game and back without the windup of traffic jams and stadium parking. It's a nonstop trip to Angel Stadium from Fullerton and Laguna Hills. Catch it at the Fullerton Park-N-Ride lot, where the Santa Ana and Riverside Freeways meet in Fullerton, or at the Laguna Hills Mall at the San Diego Freeway and El Toro Road. Fare is only 50¢ for adults, 25¢ for children under 12. Operates weekends & holidays only.

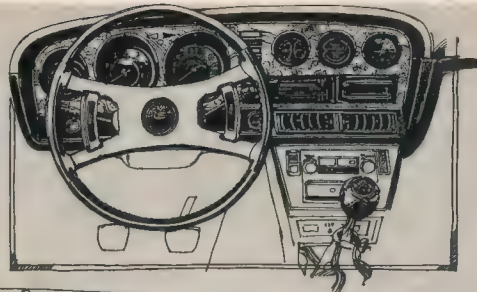

Enjoy the trip as well as the game. On the Orange County Transit District Homerun Express.

For further information on the Homerun Express (Route 100) and regular OCTD bus service for all of Orange County, call 547-3311.

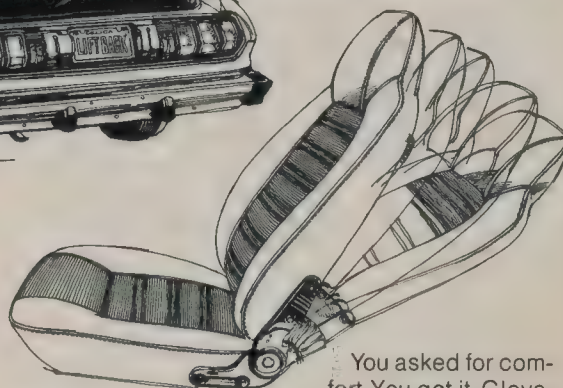

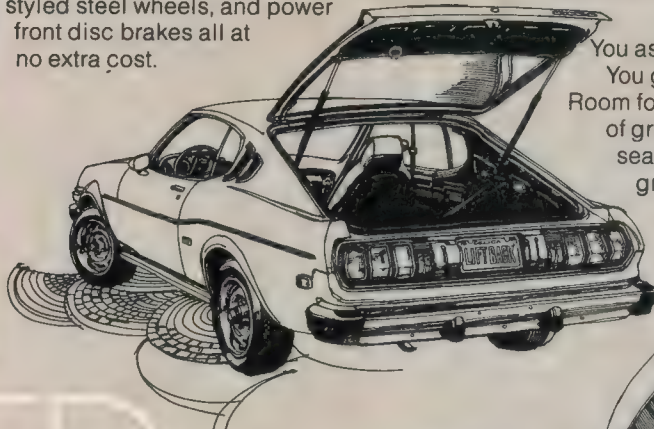

We're here to get you there.

You asked for a quality sporty car that you can afford to run. You got it. An interior which surrounds you with gauges. A 2.2 liter hemi-head coupled to a 4-speed plus overdrive fifth gear to move you on the highway at 36 miles per gallon. (1976 EPA 36 mpg on highway, 20 city. These mileage figures are estimates. The actual mileage you get will vary, depending on your driving habits, your car's condition and equipment.) MacPherson Strut front suspension, wide steel-belted radials on styled steel wheels, and power front disc brakes all at no extra cost.

You asked for GT styling with room. You got it. The Celica GT Liftback™. Room for four people plus nine bags of groceries, or flip down the rear-seat and two of you can haul the groceries plus a side of beef.

You asked for comfort. You got it. Glove-soft bucket seats with 120 different positions, tinted glass and AM/FM Stereo so you can boogie as you buggy.

YOU

THE AMERICANIZATION OF ORLANDO

Orlando Ramirez has a goal — to become an American citizen. The Colombian native is much nearer that dream, thanks to the aid of the Sam Crawford family of Orange. Mrs. Crawford and daughters Corrine and Kelly, from left above, have helped Orlando learn English as well as many of the local customs. Television, particularly newscasts and "Sesame Street," has been a big tool. So have regular reading and reciting sessions. "They've been very good to me," said Orlando. "During the winter I studied English in school and I want to stay this winter to become a citizen."

ANGELS FAN BOX

If you bought your ticket to today's game when you arrived you received a card which had space for your name and address. Please fill out the card and deposit it in the "Angels Fan Box" near the turnstiles. Watch the "Message Board" for daily winners of tickets to future Angels games. The cards will be used to tell us where our fans live and how we can better serve them. Thank you for your cooperation and maybe you'll be our guest at a future game.

Join the Junior Angels

There's still time to join the Junior Angels club and receive membership privileges. For $2, boys and girls through age 15 may see seven Angels games. They will sit in a special "Junior Angels" section or, if accompanied by a paying adult admission, receive an adjacent box seat ticket. Membership application forms are available at the stadium or at your nearby Chevron and Standard stations.

FRONT ROW CENTER 24 SQ. FT. OF COLOR TV

If you've been looking for a large screen T.V. and don't want to settle for second best, look no farther. The Advent Projection Color Television is designed for only the most discriminating viewer. It has a sharp, bright, color picture that is projected to a giant, seven foot (diagonal) special screen. Stop by Henry Radio's Anaheim store for a demonstration. It will probably be the last place you look.

Special Group Programs

Community Dates . . . Chambers of Commerce from City of Commerce to San Juan Capistrano staged their 'special' date at Anaheim Stadium last year. In addition to the fun and excitement of rallying your community together, each community is invited to have its dignitaries participate in 'first-ball' tossing ceremonies; have a Little League team present a brief infield drill right on the Big-A infield; have the school band perform and watch the Big-A message board as it spells out bicentennial highlights from your own community. Community date tickets are available on a consignment basis.

Extra-Inning Club & Grand-Slam Room. Two private dining rooms with adjacent seating now are being offered to groups of 35-or-more. The locations are ideal for business meetings, entertaining customers or strictly for socializing. Guests in the EIC & GSR receive a box seat on the terrace level; a delicious buffet with chili; all the beer and soft drinks and coffee you want; a free VIP bus parking pass; a complimentary Angels scorebook magazine; special recognition on the Big-A message board PLUS free tickets for another game if game goes extra innings or a grand-slam home run is hit . . . Cost is $10 per person.

Picnic Under Big-A . . . A new program being offered this year for groups of 100-or-more. Here's the perfect answer for your annual employees' outing. An outdoor picnic area, complete with all the frills, will be located directly under the Big-A. Two great plans are available. Plan Anaheim allows you to bring your own food—sorry, no drinks allowed. A concession stand by the picnic area will be open for beer, soft drinks and coffee. You receive a box seat on the terrace level; an Angels scorebook magazine; free parking by the picnic area; special recognition on the Big-A message board and, in the event you reserve a weekend date (Saturday or Sunday), you'll be entertained by the Angels Dixieland Band. Plan Anaheim costs only $5.50 per person. A nonrefundable $25 deposit is required and final payment must be made 10 days prior to the date of the game. Plan Orange County offers you a choice from two box lunches, including an entree, salad, roll, plus one free beer and/or soft drink. The remainder of Plan Orange County is exactly the same as Plan Anaheim. Price: $8.50 per person.

Birthday Party Club . . . Introduced last year, this program proved one of the most popular in Angels history. The Birthday Party club is available to youngsters 14 and under. Minimum order must be for a party of six—or—more, including at least one adult (two adults for 6-10 youngsters, etc.). The Angels provide invitations; birthday cake; a gift for the celebrator; celebrator's name in lights on the Big-A message board; an Angels souvenir for each member in the party; a club level box seat (a $4.00 value by itself). Price: $5 per person. Final payment for all orders must be received seven days prior to date of game selected.

Group Discount Dates . . . Plan early and take advantage of a $1 savings on the purchase of box seats or a 50c savings on the purchase of reserved seats for every member of a group of 20-or-more on the following WEDNESDAY dates: June 23 (Oakland); July 28 (Kansas City); August 11 (Boston) and September 1 (Detroit).

Note: No refunds or returns available on group discount dates.

Concessions Have Revamped Look at Big-A

In the great American tradition, hot dogs and cold beverages add to the enjoyment of a good baseball game.

The Angels and the City of Anaheim are pleased to present a completely revamped food service and concession program at the stadium this year under the direction of Szabo Food Service of California.

Szabo is in charge of all food and souvenir sales in the stadium, both for the Angels games and other events. Szabo is a familiar face to many fans, since they have operated the Anaheim Convention Center from its inception.

The revamped concessions picture from Szabo runs much deeper than the colorfully redecorated walls and the concessions stands. These "super graphics" represent only the first stages of a massive renovation program for the physical facilities.

However, the actual changes in food service go much further than this. Szabo has expressed a commitment to provide the finest stadium operation in the country with a complete rethinking of concession stands, vending operations in the stadium and the current Stadium Club operation.

General manager for Szabo at the stadium is Carmen Torzon, assisted by concessions manager Jerry Goldman and over 300 employees. Mr. Torzon says: "We are most interested in hearing from the fans, not only their reaction to our new food service program, but any suggestions they have regarding food service at the stadium to make their visit more enjoyable."

ENGINE: 4 cylinder, over-head cam, electronic ignition.
STEERING: Rack and pinion. Race-type 13" steering wheel.
BRAKES: Power assisted, front disc.
PRICE: $5,649 manufacturer's suggested retail price P.O.E. Inland transportation, local taxes and preparation charges extra.
OPTIONS: Air conditioning, AM, AM/FM, or AM/FM stereo cassette.

First consider what you see: a bold, slashing wedge taken from the Grand Prix racetracks of the world; the dashing shape of things to come.

Now consider what you don't see: the edge of the wedge knifes through the wind, forcing the front down for solid control. The slippery silhouette cuts drag. Enhances power. Adds miles to the gallon (29.9 mpg on the road; 20.7 in city streets according to official U.S. Government tests).

Consider sensation: a swift, nimble, taut two-seater that holds the road as if it had hands, that zooms from zero to sixty in an average 10.5 seconds.

Consider comfort: shut your eyes and you're riding a luxury sedan (sports cars were never like this). You enter the cockpit without acrobatics, sit and stretch in voluptuous space.

Consider the overriding sense of it: unlike the new breed of complex, fragile sports cars, TR7 emerges a beautifully simple and simply beautiful machine; a triumph of dependability priced at only $5,649. It's a steal.

DAVE CHALK:

'To 3B or Not to 3B?'

By JOHN STELLMAN
The Register

He is a quiet young man who prefers to let his glove and bat do the talking. And anybody who has seen Dave Chalk perform can hardly dispute that his work around third base speaks for itself.

For audible commentary, we turn to the experts.

"He has outstanding hands," marveled Brooks Robinson, who just happens to be THE authority on such matters. "He can do just about anything he wants to do with the glove."

"Defensively, I don't think there is anybody better in the league," praised Dick Williams, Chalk's manager.

"He will be the next Brooks Robinson," proclaimed Kansas City manager Whitey Herzog. "He has a better arm and more speed."

Among those who participated in a minimum of 100 games last year, only Baltimore's aging superstar compiled a better fielding average at third than the Angels' 25-year-old infielder.

There's certainly no disgrace to Chalk in finishing behind Robinson. After all, Brooks has won 16 consecutive Golden Glove awards, an honor symbolic of his defensive excellence.

"That's one of the goals I've set for myself," confided Chalk, a soft and never oft spoken Texan. "I'd like to win a Golden Glove. But as long as Brooks is around, I don't have much of a chance."

Chalk's chances will be further diminished if another one of his goals comes true — he wants to play shortstop.

"Shortstop is more challenging," said Dave, who broke in with the Angels at that spot late in 1973. "I'd enjoy going back there and staying. You're more in the game than at third."

"At third base, you don't have as much to do. Quickness is the only important thing. You can't even see the signs of the catcher to anticipate."

"At shortstop, you're more totally involved — taking relays from the outfield and things like that. You have to be more heads up and right in the middle of the game. I'd also like a chance to atone for the errors I made there in 1974. I think I can play the position better than that."

This perplexing problem falls into the lap of Williams. What to do with a brilliant defender who may be the best in the game at one position yet desires to prove he also can play a more demanding spot. All this must be taken, of course, in the context of the team effort and need.

Williams has confidence in Chalk, which ever way things turn.

"He's an intelligent, hard-nosed player," observed the skipper. "And he's a real team player. He's the fellow who gives all my infield signs."

"He reminds me of a tough kid," agreed Robinson. "And he's a real team player. He's a bulldog type of player."

Chalk's hitting ability fits either position. He lacks the power traditionally desired in a third baseman but he makes contact in the clutch. He could outthit all American League shortstops.

"One thing I want to accomplish is to hit over .300," he admitted. "And if I can stay healthy, I think I have a good shot at it."

"He looks as if he's getting bigger and stronger physically," noted Robinson, a keen observer. "That will help his hitting. It doesn't look like he's getting over-powered anymore."

"I'd like to have a couple of good years where I have more than 80 runs batted in," said Dave.

"I don't think his power output is really that important," pointed out Robinson, who entered the year with 264 career home runs. "He will get his RBI's. I started hitting more home runs when I got stronger. The next few years, he should hit more home runs, too. But I think it's over-played. As good a fielder as he is and as good a hitter as he looks like he is, home runs are not a big thing."

Chalk admits to paying close attention to the man designated by most observers as the game's greatest third baseman of all time.

"I've always admired the way Robinson played the game," said Dave. "He's a helluva player defensively and he's always impressed me with his clutch hitting."

Chalk's play has been impressive, too. The nation's fans noticed and gave him nearly one million write-in votes for last year's All-Star team, the third highest write-in total in recent history and the highest count for an American Leaguer.

"That was especially rewarding," said Dave, who has made the team twice in two seasons as a reserve. "I wasn't on the ballot because nobody knew where I was going to play."

This season the ballot people included him as a third baseman but the likelihood that he will remain there now is less certain.

Brooks Robinson feels Chalk belongs there. Whitey Herzog likes him there. Dick Williams wants him there.

Only time will tell.

THE EXPRESS COMES BACK

The vibrations spread quickly throughout the American League.

From city to city, shuddering batters transmitted the message: "Nolan Ryan is back."

The incomparable fastball and crackling curve are alive and well in Anaheim. Already, seismographs have recorded quaking knees around home plate as Ryan reintroduces himself to American League ballparks.

The least affected man of all is Ryan himself, who treated his elbow operation with all the concern of a hang nail removal. Oh, sure, he'd call it an eventful winter. Wife Ruth gave birth to a second son, Nolan Reese Ryan. His cattle population grew, too. Hunting was good and there was a commercial endorsement or two.

Only when pressed would he even mention his recuperation from September surgery.

"The operation was the last thing on my mind," he said with accustomed seriousness. "I never really doubted my ability to come back and pitch. I only was concerned about my velocity, whether it would return in entirety, and if I would have the same stamina to get stronger in the late innings."

The answers came with appropriate rapidity. Yes, Yes.

Despite an abbreviated spring training, Ryan began the season in characteristic fashion—near no-hitters and strikeouts in clusters. More typically, Nolan was the least impressed man in the stadium.

"My rhythm and delivery weren't what I'd like them to be. I won't be happy until I get in the groove and stay there consistently."

Kansas City Royals hitters had a different version.

"That guy has a bionic arm," said Amos Otis.

"Hasn't changed a lick," said John Mayberry, who added, "Zip. Same fastball. Zap. Same break on his curve."

Said young outfielder Tom Poquette: "The only thing the operation took out of his arm was the pain."

Credit for the renovation on Ryan's right elbow goes to Dr. Joseph King, another Texan who practices in Houston. He removed four bone chips without molesting the surrounding tissue.

"If you're going to have an operation, the best kind to have is a bone-chip operation," said Ryan, who ironically prepared for his hospital visit by playing himself with an injury on the daytime serial "Ryan's Hope" late last summer.

Actually, they didn't remove bone chips but calcium deposits which had built up.

"I've never had any reservations about my arm since then. I haven't had any problems so I have no reason to be hesitant about throwing or anything else. I didn't alter my training program. The only thing that felt unusual when I began throwing this spring was the absence of pain."

Pain was Ryan's batterymate in 1975, dating back to an April trip to Minnesota.

"I knew something was wrong. I had very mediocre stuff but won the game. The next day I couldn't straighten my arm. It was drawn about halfway up and my elbow was swollen. I went out and tried to throw with it, trying to figure out what had happened. It would get to where I could straighten it out about 85 percent."

"I kept on winning because my control was good. I was mixing my pitches and I was getting a lot of runs. But the longer I pitched, the worse it got."

What may have been one of baseball's greatest achievements—a sore-armed no-hitter in June—proved a bittersweet experience for Ryan. While placing himself on a select pedestal with Sandy Koufax above all other major league pitchers, Nolan was aware he was about to take a tumble.

"I knew I'd never finish the season," he reflected. "It was the most frustrating time of my career. Not many people realized it, but I wasn't even pitching well. It was just a matter of time before everyone found out I needed an operation."

Dear Editor:

I noticed a large group of people underneath the scoreboard apparently having a picnic before a recent game. Is it open to the public?

Sarah Morrison

• "Picnic under the Big-A" is a new program for 1976. Groups of 100 or more may reserve it under one of two plans. Complete information is listed on page 29.

Dear Editor:

Bobby Bonds is a member of the exclusive "30-30" club of men who have stolen 30 or more bases and hit 30 or more home runs in the same season. I'm familiar with the other recent members—Henry Aaron, Tommy Harper and Willie Mays—but who is Ken Williams?

Jerry Anderson
Buena Park

• Ken Williams played 14 seasons between 1915 and 1929 as an outfielder with the Cincinnati Reds, St. Louis Browns and Boston Red Sox. In 1922 with the Browns he hit 39 home runs and stole 37 bases, both career highs. In fact, he never broke the 30 barrier in either category in any other season.

Dear Editor:

Who determines the official scorer and what are the requirements for the job?

Joel Feria, Jr.
Garden Grove

• Official scorers are provided by the local chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. To be eligible, a writer must have at least three seasons experience covering major league baseball. The eligible members equally divide the assignments each season.

Dear Editor:

Is there a specific number of pitches a pitcher is allowed to throw at the beginning of each inning?

Vicki Bauer
Monterey Park

The rule is eight pitches. An umpire may allow more after a long inning or other delay and a pitcher may waive the requirement and throw fewer pitches.

Dear Editor:

I'm an avowed statistics nut. I'm curious as to how the media, including the game broadcasters, maintain such up-to-date information.

Bill Hall
Riverside

American League statistics have joined the computer age. After each game, a member of the Angels staff sends a comprehensive report via telephone lines to Boston. A computer updates all statistics and sends revised sheets to each club, again via telephone lines, the next day. Multiple copies are made from this master and distributed each day in the press box. More specialized material is kept to varying degrees by each club and transmitted to their press via daily note sheets.

Dear Editor:

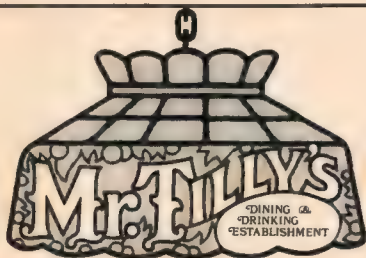

How soon before each game must the Angels arrive at the stadium?

Carrie Blakely
Cerritos

The required arrival for home games normally is about three hours before game time. That means in uniform, ready to take the field. Many players arrive earlier to better prepare themselves mentally and/or physically. On the road, the team bus is scheduled to arrive about two hours before game time.

Do you have questions or comments for the editor? If so, we would like to hear from you.

If we print your letter, you will receive two free tickets to an Angels game. Please keep questions brief. Address them to: Scorebook Editor, Angels, P.O. Box 2000, Anaheim, CA 92803. Be sure to include your address. Winners will be notified prior to publication.
